

VetCEE accreditation means high-quality continuing education in veterinary medicine and the possibility of recognition of competencies, skills, and credits across Europe

VetCEE Observer Proposal for Providers of Veterinary Continuing Professional Development Programmes

Veterinary Continuing Education in Europe (VetCEE) is an international non-profit organization that provides accreditation of national and international veterinary Continuing Education (CE) programmes in Europe, and beyond.

VetCEE and the Role of Providers of Veterinary Continuing Education

It is in everybody's best interest that CE Providers are held to high standards, both for content and educational approach of their programmes and that credits are transferable between countries. This will give veterinarians access to high quality education across Europe to develop their knowledge and skills and contribute to their career pathways.

Providers of Veterinary Continuing Education (CE) can be the drivers of positive change in the landscape of veterinary post-graduate education in Europe. Involvement of CE Providers in VetCEE ensures that VetCEE has a platform to hear the perspectives of one of its main stakeholders. In order to give veterinary CE providers a voice in the future of continuing education across Europe, we are proposing CE providers with VetCEE accredited programmes the opportunity to become an observer.

Observer benefits include:

- Attendance of one (online) General Assembly per year
- The right to propose topics for discussion at the General Assembly

Observer commitments:

- Identification of one official point of contact / representative
- Commitment to attend the discussion portion of the General Assembly

Other membership formulas include: founding members, national competent authority membership and associate membership. The process for becoming a member will be launched in the second half of 2024 and will be official from 2025. There is no membership fee.

Would you like to be part of shaping the future of veterinary continuing education in Europe? Write to ceo@vetcee.eu to schedule an appointment with us.

